SNAIL'S TRIP ON RAZOR EDGE

Scientist Makes Interesting Discovery While Studying Mollusk's Method of Locomotion.

"When photographing the snail," writes Professor Ward in the Strand, "I was surprised at the fact that even the rough cut edge of a sheet of glass presented no difficulties to its locomotion; its even pace was continued in spite of the fact that the sharp corner appeared to be penetrating its body. There, too, we have exhibited the animal's delicate sense of touch, and this led me to make a further experiment.

"After I had placed the snail on the butt of a razor's blade it slowly moved along the back of the blade and then climbed completely over the sharp edge, the razor being in excellent condition. As the successive waves brought the fore part of its foot near the edge of the blade its head was held low down, and the lower and shorter pair of feelers nearly touched the blade, as if feeling the way.

"At the moment when the sharp edge was reached the small feelers were fully extended toward it, and just at the very instant when I expected to see them cut off they were both instantly retracted. They were little more than a hair breadth away, and though the lower feelers possess no eyes, yet by their sudden movement I was quite convinced that the snail at that instant recognized danger.

"Still the foot traveled on, and slowly the snail dragged its whole weight of exactly one and a half ounces over the edge, later moving toward the butt and remaining perfectly unharmed. The species experimented with was the Roman or edible kind, which accounts for its comparatively large weight, it being the largest of British snails."

NEW RACE NEAR THE POLE

Explorers Steffansson and Anderson Find Men With Red Beards in Victoria Land.

Tidings of a hitherto unknown race have been received in dispatches from Steffansson and Anderson, who are conducting an expedition in the far north.

The strange race was located in Victoria Land, north of Cape Bexley.

One theory of their origin is that they may be descendants of an ancient Icelandic colony from Greenland. Of unusual interest is the fact that the natives bear names that can be translated into English, suggesting that survivors of the Franklin expedition may have lived among them.

They have some Scandinavian characteristics and are different from any other American aborigines. Two of them wore beards of a reddish color and all had light eyebrows. Nothing learned from them indicated that the race as it exists today had ever seen a white man.

The courier who first went forward to parley with them almost lost his life, when a native attacked him with a knife. Friendly advances were finally successful, and by means of the sign language and the assistance of native guides communication was held.

The race was an aboriginal one called A-kul-a-kat-tag-mi-ut. It had been believed that the territory was uninhabited.

One of the newest vacuum cleaners for use in houses where electric power is not available has a bellows which straps upon a person's back and is operated by a handle at one side to provide the suction.

RAINSBORO.

March 18, 1912.

Miss Lucille Shipton is spending the week at the home of her grandparents near New Petersburg.

Miss Grace Glenn, of Bliss Business College, at Columbus, is spending a few days here with her mother.

Mrs. Niscea Holmes will entertain the Aid Society on Thursday afternoon.

Wm. Bashore has rented the Cooper farm at the western edge of town and will get possession the first of April.

O. C. Bobb and family are arranging to move to Hillsboro.

Dr. O. A. Tudor, of Greenfield, was a professional visitor here one day last week.

Misses Mary and Ada Baker, of Hillsboro, were guests of friends here over Sunday.

W. S. Freshwater and wife, of Columbus, are visiting here at the home of the latter's parents, Elisha Beaver and wife.

Mrs. W. E. Shriver entertained her Sunday School class of young ladies at the M. E. parsonage last Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Mar. Caudy received word last week of the death of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harvey Lafferty, at Pittsburgh, Pa., from pneumonia. Mrs. Lafferty visited here last fall, and made many friends, who will be pained to hear of her death.

The unusual length of the feeding season has caused a scarcity among the farmers and hay and fodder are selling at record breaking prices.

The third quarterly meeting of the M. E. church will be held at New Petersburg at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning. Supt. C. M. Van Pel will present at the service.

Whatever a good drug store ought to have—and many things that other drug stores don't keep—you'll find here. Come to us first and you'll get what you want.

Miller's Drug Store
N. High Street Hillsboro, Ohio

Why Do You

send away or go to the city to buy Wallpaper or anything for that matter, when the merchants here are striving their "Durnest" to carry stocks almost equal to city stores, and their prices are no higher. I have a stock of Wallpaper that will compare favorably with any city store, and over three hundred samples are shown just as they will look upon the walls of your home. This you cannot find in any other store that I know of. This is a service for you to help you in the selection of your Wallpaper for any room in your home. You will find here paper from 5c per single roll to 50c, and borders from 5c per single roll to our already cut out patterns at 12c per yard. You who want paper cheap, of good quality can find something here to suit you. You who want the medium grades cannot go astray if you buy these papers from us. And you who want something real fancy or extra good will surely find it in our large stock of these papers. Our samples are shown so that fifty people can examine and pick their papers at one time. Every sample is marked in plain prices. There is no deviation. My salespeople can sell as cheaply as I. We all try to give you the best service we know how. If we cannot suit you with our papers carried in stock, let us order for you from our special samples. But there is one thing I want you to do, buy your Wallpaper in Hillsboro. If not from us, from some other store. Hillsboro stores need your business. Your money will circulate back to you, if you spend it at home, and it will never come back if you send it away.
